KAGAN - NODD WEDDING

Mrs. Betty Jane Noddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McInnis of Biloxie, got married Saturday morning, Sunday of Mr. Lester Noto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Noto of Bay St. Louis, at a beautiful ceremony at the Main St. Methodist Church.

The late evening wedding at 8:30 p.m. attracted a host of friends.

The bride entered the church which was adorned with white flowers and greenery, attired in an ice blue afternoon frock of crinkle, made with bouffant skirt and fitted bodice. She wore a small hat of a matching shade and carried a bouquet of an exquisite white orchid surrounded with stephanotis.

Mrs. Norma June Ladner, sister of the bridegroom was the bride's maid attendant. She wore a pale pink embroidered organdy frock and carried a bouquet of sweet-heart roses and wore a spray of the same flowers in her hair.

Mr. Bobby Miller, of New Orleans, was best man to the bridegroom.

During the ceremony, "I Love You Truly" was sung by Mrs. Theodore Thomas, Rev. A. M. Ellison officiated at the ceremony.

Little Donna Ragan, daughter of the bride wore a dainty white nylon frock with yellow rosebuds in her hair.

Immediately following the church service a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents on Second St.

Mrs. Noto was assisted in receiving by Mrs. W. A. Hartfield of Bay St. Louis, mother of the bride. Both ladies wore Navy blue gowns with white accessories and shoulder corsages of sweet-heart roses.

The reception rooms of the Noto home were charming with a profusion of white gladiola in tall standards, and the bride's table was beautiful with a lace cloth centered with a tiered wedding cake, flanked with crystal candleabra holding white lighted tapers.

Mrs. James Strong cut the cake to members of the senior class of St. Joseph's Academy, Sunday, at a luncheon at the Reed Hotel. Carrying out the "Cowgirls" of S. J. A. Miss Brignac selected an unusual and beautiful floral arrangement for the center of the table. Dolls dressed as cowgirls were used with desert type flowers in deep toned colors. Place cards, representing "Cowgirls" and baskets of candies were given each guest as favors.

In addition to the 29 girls of her class, Miss Brignac's guest list included two lay teachers of the academy, Mrs. William Argus and Mrs. George Curet.

Milk Industry Of State Shows Growth

The milk industry of Mississippi has grown to a more than forty million dollar industry per year and now thanks to the Legislature and the governor, we are able to protect that industry and the public health here and elsewhere wherever milk is sold.

The Legislature which has just adjourned, very wisely appropriated funds necessary to bring our milk inspection and laboratory services up to standards required by the United States Public Health Service Standard Milk Ordinance, 1953 edition. All States had adopted this ordinance as a requirement for milk imported into the state, and Mississippi, being primarily an exporting state, of necessity had to get in step or take a disarming economic setback.

We are now in process of meeting these recently adopted standards for safe milk products—a progressive step very necessary for the health of our people in the State and for the large number of consumers of our milk beyond our borders, demonstrating once again that good health and good economics go hand in hand.

The dairymen of the State, small and large, are cooperating fully in the production of safe milk. This is also true of the operators of plants who process raw milk.

In order to help prevent this destruction in your woodland here are a few suggestions.

First, try to keep your stand a good healthy growing condition. This is a good preventive measure as weakened or injured trees often invite insect attacks.

Your trees can remain in a healthy state if fires are prevented.

Fires always weaken the larger trees and sometimes even kill them.

If you are planning to harvest some trees make sure a forest-selects and marks the trees to be cut. In his selection he will include the weakened and injured trees.

It is important to know where he is going, but for how many years he may have a military obligation.

The six months training is an adventure to a young high school graduate who might want a taste of Army life, but not want to sign up for a full enlistment.

He can fit the period in between the time of graduation and the time he settles into a job. The training will round off a high school education with a period in which he will receive training in which he will receive training in how to live with other young men and how to take care of himself under field conditions.

It will give him training in leadership and in the later phases, he will receive technical training that could be helpful to him in civilian life.

"Upon completion of the six months of training, which is given at a number of Army training centers, a National Guard returns to its local National Guard unit to complete seven and a half years of Guard Training. This consists of a weekly training period in the local armory and 15 days of field training."

Lt. Kingston said the local armory on Necessity Avenue, is open daily from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Monday evenings 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. and further information is available for interested young men.

DETAINED

Word was received this week by Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Bourgeois, Sr., that Lt. Bourgeois, Jr., U. S. A. who with Mrs. Bourgeois and their two sons who were scheduled to arrive in the States the latter part of this month, would be detained in Japan until July due to the illness of Mrs. Bourgeois.

Silent on Reforms...

Jackson, Miss.—The Coleman administration so far has been silent on any plans it might have to launch long-sought reforms at the state's Parchman state penitentiary.

In the closely related field of probation and parole, the administration has created the state's first system of adult probation for criminal first offenders.

This program will give a "second chance" for convicted criminals who will never reach the six-acre penitentiary.

But for those already at Parchman, and others to come, the administration's activities so far have been a blank.

And for at least two more years, Parchman will apparently go along as it was—with a six-inch leather lash known as "Black Annie" reigning as the Supt. Marvin Wiggins, who has official symbol of discipline, and headed the penitentiary for the only vocation the average past 10 years, on several occasions has told reporters that use of the lash was more humane than solitary confinement.

Wiggins has been making regular use of the solitary confinement cells, largely for prisoners considered the "tough" element rather than for disciplinary reasons.

Use its "Prifoff!"

The use of the lash has declined substantially since the new unit has been in operation, but prior to our attention a Birthday that interests millions of people. He said:

"The Series E Savings Bond will be fifteen years old on May 1, 1958. It deserves a salute from all Americans."

Essentially Parchman is still a plantation operated as a revenue source for the state. From the cotton produced last year and harvested with prison labor, Parchman made nearly a quarter of a million dollar "profit" for the state.

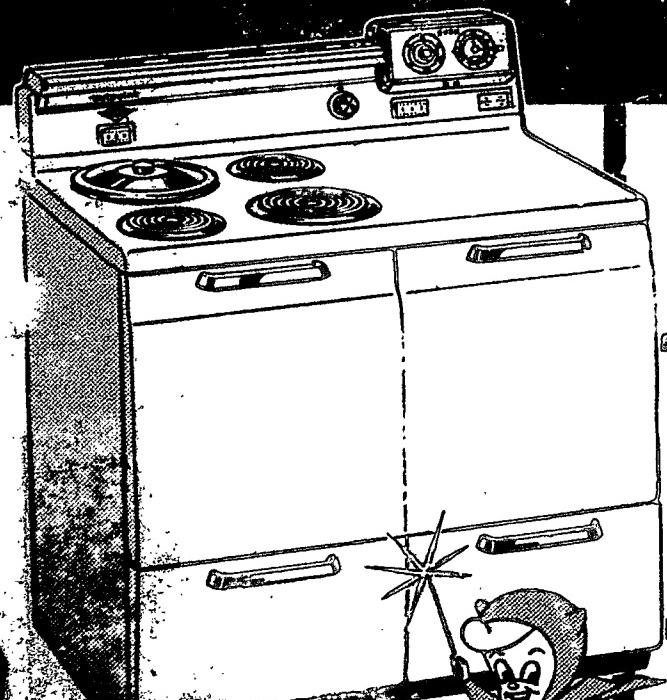

Many legislators and others interested in reforms at the penitentiary long have advocated putting the revenues from its crops into a revolving fund to provide new facilities and a planned vocational training program.

A first step toward vocational training was taken at the recent session of the Legislature when a provision was written into law for a metal working shop at the penitentiary. No funds were provided.

In his three months of office, Gov. Coleman has lived up to the strict policy on granting pardons and indefinite suspensions of sentence which he declared in his inaugural address.

He has not granted one pardon and has approved release of only two prisoners from Parchman on indefinite suspensions of sentence—N. O. Times-Picayune, April 22, 1956.
